What is strategic planning?

Strategic planning involves developing a long-term plan focused on the values, priorities, and fundamental objectives of the territory to promote its development. This dynamic process requires diligent monitoring, ongoing evaluation of results, and regular updates to enable collective and strategic management of socio-economic development.

Driven by local initiative, the groundwork for the first strategic plan was laid in 2002. Since then, three five-year plans, each including specific goals and actions, have guided the priorities of the Témiscamingue strategic planning committee. In all cases, the vast majority of the defined actions have been successfully implemented.

This strategic plan is built around actions identified as priorities for the development of Témiscamingue, requiring a cross-sectoral approach. This cross-sectoral approach is evident when the implementation of an action requires the involvement of multiple organizations from various sectors.

The plan's true strategic dimension will only materialize if development stakeholders have the latitude to adapt and adjust it continuously.

A common vision

Témiscamingue's strategic planning is the result of a collaborative effort that brings together all stakeholders in the region—spanning the economic, employment, social, community, public service, and municipal sectors—around a shared vision.

Témiscamingue is a rural region, rich in resources and open to the world, where communities enjoy a healthy, natural, and abundant living environment.

Message from the committee

Since 2002, Témiscamingue has maintained a sustained and structured focus on strategic planning for its territory. This initiative is built on a strong partnership established over time, marked by ongoing trust and collaboration among local stakeholders. The Témiscamingue strategic planning committee, composed of representatives from the municipal, health, education, youth, community, and economic sectors, remains the cornerstone of regional collaboration.

Over the years, these efforts have led to the successful implementation of 90% of the planned actions, strengthening cohesion among various sectors and fostering collaborative practices as well as the capacity to mobilize quickly in response to projects and challenges.

The Témiscamingue strategic planning committee continues to demonstrate a high level of commitment. In the fall of 2022, it initiated a reflection process to renew the strategic plan for the 2024-2030 period. Meetings, workshops, and in-depth discussions were organized to identify priority actions.

While the new plan builds on its predecessor, particularly in aiming to increase the population, committee members place significant emphasis on quality of life and the sustainable settlement of residents in the region. Each strategic orientation is designed to ensure actions with a meaningful positive impact on the local population.

With 20 years of experience behind them, the members of Témiscamingue's strategic planning committee are proud to present the 4th plan, a bold, realistic, unifying and inclusive project.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT IN TÉMISCAMINGUE
(ATTRACTION - SETTLEMENT - INTEGRATION)

A FULFILLING LIVING ENVIRONMENT
(RETENTION)

Important note

The Témiscamingue strategic plan embodies a comprehensive and collaborative vision, emphasizing the importance of intersectoral synergies for its success. Recognizing major challenges such as transportation and childcare, which are already addressed by sector-specific action plans that we actively support, our approach prioritizes integration over duplication.

SUSTAINABLE AND ECO-RESPONSIBLE
ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

ADVENTURE-NATURE SECTOR

The adventure-nature sector has been thriving in recent years. Projects such as the creation of Parc national d'Opémican, the establishment of the Coop de l'Arrière-Pays, and the Raid Témiscamingue highlight the effervescence of this field. As a result, it is essential to begin professionalizing this sector to ensure its development remains coherent, structured, and aligned with the needs of both the local community and tourists.

ORGANIC AND INNOVATIVE AGRICULTURE SECTOR

The region already has an action plan in place through the Plan de développement de la zone agricole (PDZA), which addresses several challenges in the agricultural sector. Therefore, it is important to refer to this plan for issues related to mobilization, branding, attractiveness, succession planning, market development, and more. However, to address climate change and support the growth of innovative businesses, cooperation between the academic and business sectors is essential.

DEVELOP AND DIVERSIFY TRAINING: OFFER AND FORM

The diversification and availability of training are crucial for Témiscamingue, as they allow for the development of local skills tailored to the specific needs of our region, thereby promoting employment and retaining young talent who would otherwise migrate to urban areas. Furthermore, this fosters innovation and competitiveness, which are essential for the territory's attractiveness and economic development.
